

Yes on Proposition 1A

PRO Argument:

California's transportation system is broken: skyrocketing gasoline prices and gridlocked freeways and airports. High-speed trains are the new transportation option that reduces greenhouse gases and dependence on foreign oil. High-speed trains are cheaper than building new highways and airports to meet population growth and require NO NEW TAXES.

BALLOT MEASURE SUMMARY INFORMATION

Argument in favor/against (circle one) of proposition # 1A.

Include text of summary argument here (50 word maximum):

Prop. 1A is a huge boondoggle. Taxpayers pay at least $640,000,000 per year in costs for a government run railroad. There's no guarantee it will ever get built. Expand existing transportation systems instead to cut commutes and save fuel. No on 1A: an open taxpayer checkbook with virtually no accountability.
